

A fighting squadron from Point Cooke carried out a night "raid" over Preston in connection with the Jubilee celebrations last night. The photographs show the pilot and observer of one bomber in the cockpits and mechanics holding another machine down during engine revolution tests before the flight.

A12-3 Bristol Bulldog Undated picture of night exercises over Preston in conjunction with Jubilee celebrations (1938?) Mechanics holding aircraft down while engines are run up