

ON AERIAL RECONNAISSANCE WORK, these two Wapiti planes left Laverton yesterday for Central Australia, where some 30,000 square miles of country remain to be explored and surveyed. The machines are on loan from the Federal Government.

Aerial reconnaissance work – exploration and survey from Laverton, probably August 1929, probably A5-7 and A5-8